about the curator ...

Jill Katona got her start in New York City scouting for the A&R department of Elektra Records during the heyday of Metallica, Missy Elliot and Jason Mraz. After attending her 478,924,234th show, she decided to up her knowledge of the biz and headed to Los Angeles to study entertainment law. Three years of toiling away in law school led her to understand, finally, why all the bands that she ever worked with were constantly befuddled by mountains of paperwork. Wanting to make life easier for her favorite artists she decided to sidestep the traditional law firm route and bring her talents to where they were needed most: the musicians. To that end, Jill formed Paperwork Media, Chicago's newest addition to the world of music management.

Around the Coyote's music and theatre programming is partially supported by Chicago Artists Resource. Building on their initial success with visual artists over the past year CAR has been expanding their content to also serve local music, dance and theater communities. Coming this fall, CAR version 2 will also feature dedicated and comprehensive areas for each discipline including local venues, performance companies, arts professional stories, business resources, rehearsal and recording facilities, promotion resources, funding, auditions, national festivals and much more.
